

Classroom-use permission

For organizations, schools and instructors that teach from VetsLearn materials.

Content version 2026.10-2 · 2026-10-09

Soldier Data LLC operates VetsLearn (vetslearn.com), a free AI self-study site for service members and veterans. This page restates the “Organizations and classrooms” section of the VetsLearn Terms (vetslearn.com/terms/) so an organization can keep it on file. If this page and the Terms differ, the Terms on the site apply.

This is a standing permission for non-commercial instruction. You do not need to sign anything or ask first.

You may

- Link to any lesson, worksheet or facilitation material published on vetslearn.com.
- Project those pages in a classroom, workshop or meeting.
- Print them for the people being taught.
- Teach from them in sessions your organization runs itself.

Conditions

- The instruction is non-commercial.
- Anything printed or shown carries this credit: “VetsLearn (vetslearn.com), Soldier Data LLC”.
- The content is used as published, without changes.

You may not

- Charge for the content itself.
- Host a copy in your own learning management system (LMS) or on your own website. Link to the page instead.
- Remove the VetsLearn name.
- Say or imply that VetsLearn endorses your program or delivers it.

Limits

- Soldier Data LLC can withdraw this permission from anyone who misuses it.
- The materials come with no warranty. You decide whether they fit your learners and your rules.
- VetsLearn is self-study. Soldier Data LLC does not run cohorts, teach your sessions, report on learners or certify anyone. Completion is self-reported.
- This permission is not an endorsement, a contract or an approval of your program.
